To Whom it May Concern,

In 1999, I had the good fortune of being Cathy's boss at StarMedia. Over the years, we have continued to be close colleagues and friends.

In the 12 years that I have known Cathy, she has continued to impress me with her talents, diligence and never-ending drive to improve the lives of others. As she worked to achieve her goals, Cathy has consistently raised those around her up. She has shown herself time and time again to be an exceptional mentor that inspires those around her to be better than they thought they could be. This is a core attribute of a born educator.

Throughout her professional career and volunteer work, Cathy has demonstrated exceptional communication skills and has inspired trust and confidence in her clients. In addition to leveraging these abilities as a teacher, I have no doubt that her keen listening and observational skills will serve her well as she determines the educational and emotional needs of her students.

Cathy is the embodiment of dedication, and I can confidently state without hesitation that she can do anything and puts 100% of herself into all that she does. A move from corporate America to teaching is an inspiring change. Any school would be fortunate to have her on staff. Having had the pleasure of being Cathy's boss, colleague and friend over the past 12 years, I recommend her without reservation.
